Radio Marshals will collect their radio at signing on. The Radio Marshal will be considered the Senior Marshal on the particular Post he is working and will be the Team Leader on that Post. Marshals issued with a radio for the event must sign for the radio and keep it with them at all times. The Marshal issued with the radio is solely responsible for it until handed back to issuing staff at the end of the day's racing. The Radio Marshal will also be issued with a clip board, pen and Incident Report Forms solely for minor incidents. Major incidents will be dealt with by the Official Incident Officer of APRR. Should you find you have a fault with the radio or headset provided, please contact the Chief Marshal who will arrange for it to be replaced. When using the radio, all calls in the first instance should be directed through Race Control. For example: "Race Control from Post 2, over" wait for a response from Race Control before sending your message.

Flags Used at Aberdare Park RR

Welsh National Flag – In the absence of Start Lights, at APRR the Welsh National Flag will be shown at the start of a session in place of a Green Flag.

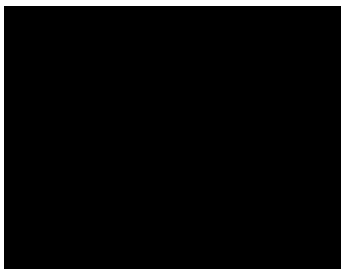

Green Flag –The Green Flag means that the track ahead is clear. The Green Flag will usually be shown at the start of a session or after a section where yellow flags have been waved. The Flag is shown static and not waved.

Yellow Flag – The Yellow Flag means there is danger ahead. Where the danger is imminent the flag should be shown waved. The flag should be shown static at the preceding post and a static Green Flag should be shown at the next post after the danger is passed.

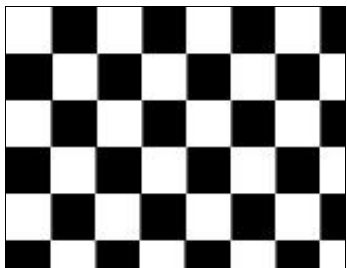

Red Flag – The Race or session has been stopped due to serious incident on the track. Marshals on post will only use the Red Flag when instructed to do so by Race Control or the Radio Marshal on that post. If a Red Flag is called it will usually be in the form of, “Race Control to all posts, RED FLAG, STOP RACE , STOP RACE.” The flag is shown waved. The Red Flag may also be used to close the track at a particular point. In this case the flag is shown static.

Black Flag – The Black Flag is shown to instruct a rider to leave the track and return to the pits/paddock. This could be due to a part loose or broken on the machine, smoke or oil leaking from the machine or Race Control or the Marshals feel the rider poses a danger being on the track either to their selves or others. The flag is shown static with either the rider’s number or a pointing gesture from the Marshal.

Red & Yellow Striped – The lack of adhesion flag will be shown by Marshals to indicate a potential lack of adhesion in that section of the track. It could be oil or fluid or debris on the track, or it might have started to rain at that part of the circuit. The flag is shown static and not waved.

Private Vehicles On Circuit

No private vehicles are permitted on circuit or on post, this includes bicycles.

Sunday Racing

On Sunday there is a compulsory "Church Break" between 10.30am and 12.00 midday. There is no racing on circuit between those times. Race Control will clear down the circuit in time for the compulsory break upon which all Marshals can stand down. Race Control will advise all Posts when they should return to Post. This will usually be 10 -15 minutes before racing restarts for Radio checks.

End of Day's Racing

Race Control will advise all posts when to stand down at the end of the day's racing. When you have been stood down please ensure all equipment is placed at the side of the track for collection. All flags should be rolled up tight and replaced in the bag provided. Buckets of dust and fire extinguishers should be placed also at the side of the track for collection. Radio Marshals should return their radios to issuing staff for overnight recharging. Please leave the Marshals Post clean, tidy and free of litter.
